Dedication

E. Wulff

K. Dunn

The '75-'76 yearbook is dedicated to two women who have given many years of their lives to teaching. This year they are retiring, and we thank Mrs. E. Wulff and Mrs. K. Dunn for everything that they have contributed to the students and the school.

Class Will

Hear ye, hear ye. Be it known that this is the Class of '76 will and testament.

We, Angela Hutchins and Janet Tarrant leave Mr. Climan in hopes that no one ever spells his name with a "K" again.

We, Mr. Fletcher's Russian History classes, leave him a life-size poster of Nixon.

I, Linda Wright, leave Miss Nealon the roll of Life Savers which I won for taking gym for one entire term without missing it once.

We, Julie Pare and Theresa Polek, leave Mr. Pastore the pleasure of cleaning out his own type cases.

We, Patty Valuckas, Mitch Merriam, Debbie Orr and Sheila Parsons, leave Mr. Citron a Winnie-The-Pooh and Goranimal collection in hopes that he will learn to coordinate his clothes.

We, the students on the yearbook, leave Mrs. Dumais 5 free easy lessons on how to use a camera and take good candids.

We, Pam Edgerton and Terri Polek, leave Mr. Kiner Joan Dugas' skiing magazine in hopes that he learns more from it than she did.

I, Jeanne Marshall, leave Mrs. Chaloux hoping that her pet rock, Rocky, and my pet rock, Herbie, will meet.

I, Carol Mowrey, leave Miss Skirvan 1 bite of cinnamon donut in hopes that someday she will break the habit of one bite per donut.

We, Mrs. Hebert's 4th period study hall, leave her a life-time supply of Anacin for all the headaches we gave her while telling us to turn around and stop talking.

I, Jean Viniconis, leave Mr. Madore a book entitled The Rules of French Grammar, so that he won't have to think up his own anymore.

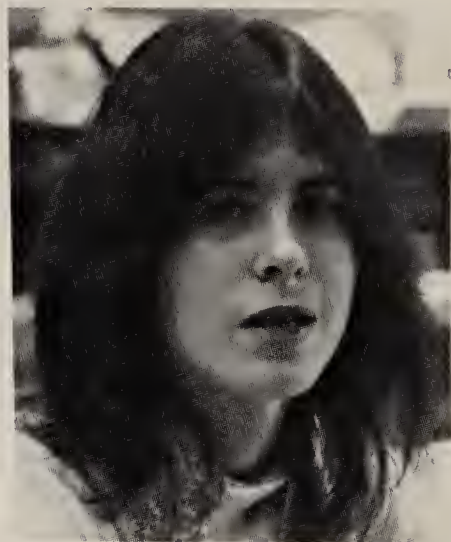

We, Cindy Bourget, Kim and Lori Chisolm, Debbie Reddin Sharon Childs, Diane Wesley and Connie Davis leave our spot outside of White House office to any ninth grade students as it was left to us by past ninth graders.

We, Dawn Crosson and Rita Leonard, leave a huge box of Kleenex tissues to any future ninth grade girl who feels left out when she has no guy to walk in the halls with. We know how it feels.

We, Jackie Baer and Nat Desroches, leave next year's varsity cheerleaders ammunition of Shower to Shower, Head and Shoulders, some wet towels, and our finale of songs for after practice.

We, Mr. Kiner's first semester 6th period class, leave him a new book entitled How to Change Your Expression for all the times he yelled at us with a straight face.

I, Jill Young, leave to the cafeteria all the rolls, ice cream and peanut butter cookies which I have eaten in the halls without any teacher catching me.

We, Mr. Andy's homeroom, leave him a giant box of pencils so he'll always have one to take attendance with.

I, Gail Katilus, leave my brother, David, my intelligence in math which Mr. Hiersche can vouch for but probably won't.

Mr. Sunter's 6th period class leave him the book, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying.

We, Mrs. Dumais' Saturday helpers, Bev Baril, Jeanne Marshall, and Ann Normand, leave 100 copies of her famous portrait to plaster the English department walls with.

I, Donna Phelps, leave Mr. LaBreck memories of my afternoon visits.

I, Lauren Kula, leave Sue Albro the book 2002 Ways to be a More Organized Person in hopes that she will read it and take the hint before she tries to organize another dance.

We, Miss Ryba's first quarter 20's and 30's class, leave still wondering if we'll ever see our movie.

We, Carol Mowrey, Sue Evarts, Laurie Dobrowski and Corina Thompson, leave Mrs. Albano Sue Telesky in hopes that someday she'll slowly drive her crazy.

We, Laura Jordon and Sue Vandevanter, leave Mr. Bodnar our brilliant answers in his time of need.

We, Alison La Rochelle and Ann Normand, leave Mr. Charland the words "Au revoir".

We, Mr. O'Neil's fifth period class, leave him a broken filmstrip projector and record player, a cracked record, and a sliced filmstrip.

I, Jackie Baer, leave Mr. Cowles all the excuses which I haven't used yet for not coming to homeroom.

I, Linda Walsh, leave Mr. Pastore my hat to wear every winter day so he won't get sick.

We, Ron Devine and Pete Maznicki, leave Mr. Andy with his football team and hope that someday he'll realize that soccer is #1.

We, Sharon Guyette and Jane Cegeleski, leave Mr. Breither our secret love notes.

We, Denise Kadis, Gil Reynolds, Jackie Baer and Dawn Crosson, leave our back seats in Mr. Nacewicz's room to any 8th grader who happens to have him next year.

We, Mike Bidmead and Tony Pinder, leave Mr. Carney a roll of wintergreen Life Savers, a box of Tic Tacs, and a lump of coal.

We, Carol Moore, Laura Fredrick and Denise Dubois, leave an exam of 100 to any deserving biology student. (They'll need it.)

We, Randy Wylot and Mike Moriarity, leave to Mrs. Caban five minutes of mm's, ah's . you know's and so's.

We, Lori Clark, Millie Gil and Rita Leonard, leave J.F.K. with joy knowing that the 8th grade girls can't flirt with Scott Zachary, Steve Courtois, Steve Ruel, Rick Fleming, and Mark Kaman.

We, Arlene Africano and Caren Iacalino leave Mr. Demers our field trip.

We, Pete Maznicki and Ron Devine, leave Mr. Benson with all his dreams of being basketball coach of the New York Nicks and beating Johnny Miller at golf.

We, Sue Lagasse and Deb Paklos, leave Bob Massaro to Joni Lagasse.

We, the field hockey team of '75 leave the '76 team our winning games against the "Big K".

We, Buck Parsons, Angie Davis, Sue Evarts, and Carol Mowrey, leave Mr. Milroy the rest of the 60 lb lobster in hopes that someday he'll make the movie entitled Claws.

We, Mr. Hoza's first period class, leave him all the techniques of learning how to multiply.

We, Karin Baum, Courtney McLaughlin, Steve Ruel, and Eric Paulsen, leave Mr. Haley two little white socks with red elephants on them (one for each pocket) in hopes that they won't fall out during an algebra lesson.

We, Sue Lloyd and Alana Hayden, leave Mr. Krautcuk our crazy laughter and all our gooey messes that we never cleaned up.

We, the J.F.K. Drama Club of 75-76, leave to Mrs. Gaj and Miss Gademan one dozen peach colored teddies because they are "Cheaper By the Dozen."

I, Sue Gates, will to Kim Glass my brother, Karl, in exchange for one of her brothers.

We, Karen Heiser, Melissa Gainey, and Alana Hayden, leave to Mr. Bell his unsubtle jokes and his grotesque stories.

I, Cheryl Trotta, leave Miss Nealon my wet gym suit in hopes that it will aid her in catching the girls who threw me in the shower.

I, Jean Viniconis, leave my sister, Kim, one of my report cards, a hopeful inspiration.

We, Mr. Bodnar's second period class, leave him a bottle of pep pills in case his other classes start to doze.

I, Randy Wylot, continue the tradition of passing on the book, I Love Myself, to John Giordono who is very worthy of receiving it.

I, Kim Lowe, leave my sister Rae Ann the hope that her years at J.F.K. will bring her as much fun and as many fond memories as it has brought to me.

We, Sue Cunningham and Kathy Nolan, leave Mr. Reynolds two new messengers to get his rocks.

We, Mrs. Fournier's seventh period French class, leave her an extra wide space in the aisle so she won't trip over Carl Peterson's feet.

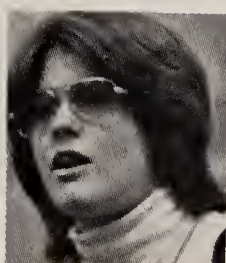

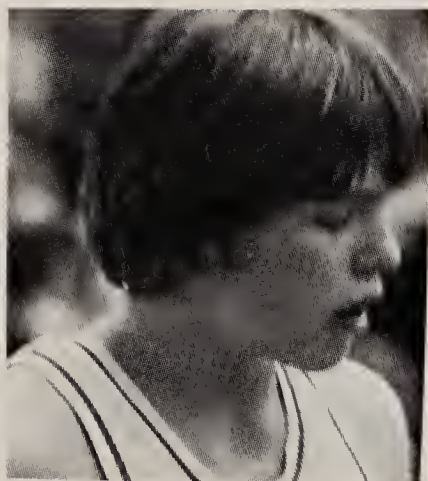

We, Mr. Bojarski's classes, leave him the book, Moby Dick, so that he can be sure that the dimension of his whale is in the right proportions.

I, Nat Desroches, leave very fond memories never to be forgotten.

I, Donnie White, leave Miss Shonak the book, entitled How To Make Friends.

We, the yearbook layout committee, leave Mrs. Dumais all the empty space on each page in hopes that she will find something to put there.

CLASS PROPHECY

How time flies! It is hard to believe it has been fourteen years since we were ninth graders at John F. Kennedy J. H.S. That was 1976, the bicentennial year, and now it's 1990, nearly the end of the century. We thought times were hard in 1976, but now, although most of us are not feeling a financial pinch, our school is in trouble. When Jerome Labonte, Matt Alaimo, Bob Murac, Genette Laliberte, Doug Fosberg, and George Naylor, at a meeting of the town council, realized what losing our school would mean, they decided something would have to be done. They formed a committee, including Thomas Bailey, Edward Setaro, Nancy Mathieu, Barbara Burns, Mary Smith and Bruce Vaughn to consider ways of raising money to make the needed repairs and improvements to our school.

They decided that since there were so many successful business persons from our class one source of revenue might be contributions. Eric Paulsen, who recently discovered a cure for arthritis, donated $1,000. Susan Gates who just made a gold record, sent in $500. Jane Cegelski and Robin Allevo, running an art store in Hartford, gave the proceeds of one day's sales to our cause. Courtney McLaughlin, John Wakelee, Mike Taylor, and John Maznicki, although playing for rival N.F.L. teams, got together and donated $1,000. Ed Amos, Richard Massey, Hollie Boucher and Donna Provost, owners of a chain of novelty stores, proved their school store experience was valuable and donated $500.00. Wendy Castle, ~~Ann~~ Pamela, Gary Palmer, and Tom Arena, who run a very successful sporting goods store in Enfield, contributed $500. In addition to these contributions the organizing committee decided that a talent show might be an enjoyable way of raising money for the school and getting the class back together. The advertising agency which Sharon Allaire, Susan Rossignol and Tracy Huddleston run, donated their services to promote the show. Reporters Lisa Ellis, Linda Miville, and Glenn Blackwood made sure the show got a lot of publicity. Having Jeanne Marshall as editor of the local paper also helped. Jeff Foss, John Shattuck, Scott Franklin, Bob Handley, Alan Bourne, Cheryl Jenkins, Warren Delguidice, Anthony O'Kanos, James Josey, Charles Cavaleri, Dane Thorogood, Kim Bray, Charles Brocuglio, Yvette Davis, Noreen Hunt, Andre Gagner, Michael Smith, Cynthia Bourget, Craig Roth, Greg Johnson, and Guy Roberge spent weeks preparing the sets for the production. Ticket sales were handled by Patty Hall, Christopher Baron, Bruce Thibodeau, Pete Colson and Lorian Barrows. Serving as ushers and usherettes were Lisa Zacaro, Darlene Place, James Kane, Rickie Curcio, Lori Cunningham, Bryan Ayres, Ann Rossignol, Marianne Bacewicz, Judy Golab, Scott Merrill, Joanne Poutre and Michael Nadeau.

It is the night of the talent show. Greg Dobosz, Lauren Blake, Joan Dugas, Rosemarie Boudreau, and Steve Richer were at the telephone accepting contributions from members who couldn't attend but wanted to make a pledge.

Now the talent show is about to begin. Paul Bonazelli and Bennett Fuller are working the spot light. Cheryl Back opens the curtain. We have a full house! Sylvia Crowley, Linda Gawle, Frank Halish, Jim Whittemore, Kim Grape and Pete Surapine open the program with a medley of songs from Cheaper By the Dozen. Jackie Baer, Lori Belanger, Rosey Carroll, Nat Desroches, Laura Frederick, Caren Iacolino, Diane Merrill, Beth Roberts, Michele St Sauveur, Kim Sullivan, Kathy Turmelle, and Andrea Machabee, our cheerleaders, do some of the old school cheers and give an acrobatic demonstration. They'll be needing some liniment tonight! Refreshments are allowed in the auditorium and many of our classmates have donated food. Mike Lupi and Martin Martinez run an Italian restaurant and have supplied hors d'oeuvres. Gary Neilson and Greg Hudon have donated the liquid refreshment from their prosperous establishment. Those delicious pastries come from the bakery run by Sherry Janson and Bonnie Laferriere. Mark Krukowski's cheese shop outdid itself supplying us with many varieties to sample. We were even lucky enough to have the plates and cups donated by the supply house which supplies all the restaurants around. It's run by John Kulungian, Michael Nicholas, and Steven Sombric. There are Lori Clark, Millie Gil, Rita Leonard, Mike Leroy, Denise Kadis, Kim Lowe, Ricky Fleming and Steve Courtois talking about all the fun they had at the games. And speaking of games, Randy Wylot, Mike Moriarty, Brian Green, Steve Viera, Danny Hebb, Mark Kaman, Kenny Gaskell and Steve Ruel are about to give a wrestling exhibition. Some of them have slipped way out of their weight classes. For a change of pace Roberta Massey, Kevin Green, Mitch Merrium, Danny Pellegrino, Kim Jandreau, Glenn Lacey, Tom Hollowell, Mike Kamm, Bob Albro, Paul White and Mike Triba, members of our stage band, returned to play some "oldies" for us. Bob Loiselle, Donna Lucia, Lois Marquis and Bob Dupuis just came in. They have to stand in the back but are talking to Kevin Lachendro and Lori Jacobs who are talking to Waneta Hoyt and Denise Kranz. The first intermission comes and people from our class are manning career booths around the hub. Linda Coffey, Kristie Chase, Carol Lecuivre, Debbie Pappas, Liz Ouellette, Meg Chechile, and Karen Chase work in the insurance companies and are excited about their work. Involved in the medical profession are Barbara Allen, Paul Markowski, Ann Sweetman, James O'Donnell and Donna Osborne. They have some gruesome stories, as well as some happy ones to tell. Representing Armed Forces are Joel Axenroth, David Moody, Carl Thibodeau, Pam Cowles, and Tracy Emmons. They never looked so neat when they were at Kennedy! Lawyers and legal aid assistances were amply represented by Jacqueline Sullivan, Candace Ruzzi, John Lyman, Laura Croce, Thomas Aube and Robert Martin. Judges beware! There are even some former students representing the teaching profession. They include Patty Duffy, Sue Evarts, Len Pazik, Sue Oliver and Randy Kamay. Well, no more time to look at the booths now, the show is about to begin again. Gwen Gonyea, Angie Davis, Sue Vandevanter, Cheryl Butler, Debbie Orr, Fern Labonte, Chris Catalina, and Joe Natale are busy trying to sell souvenir programs to the people as they return to their seats. Now it's time for our basketball exhibition with Ronnie Devine, Gavin Brady, Chris Coughlin, Sue Reynolds, Todd Wingen, Debbie Patsky, Jack Frangiamore, Jim Mulligan, Joe Olesky and Kathy Gondarowski.

Professional referees Mike Cirillo and Steve Bushey are on hand to keep it clean.

A skit follows, which pokes fun at how we used to act and even some of our former teachers. Involved in this are Debbie Paklos, Kate Randolph, Anita Albert, Kim Breslin, Kathy Giaccone, Maryann Myers, Joanne Belliveau, Richard Vaughn, Doug Welch, Meg Grob, Joseph Bridge, Debbie Reddin, and Mary Bagley. Busy moving the set for them are Tom Chevalier, Laurie French, and Mike Ouellette. Now there is time to see more of those booths. There are Jim Desrosiers, Bev Baril, Carol Moore, Jana Olechnicki, Chris Bloniarz, Don Holden, Mike Kadis and Barry Hallenbeck, popular artists, are drawing portraits of some of their old classmates. They are donating their profits to our fund. Working on crafts and also donating their profits are Joanne Zarzycki, Judy Finn, Lauri Chisholm, and Suni Hong. There is Martani Fijhvandraat, a candidate for U.S. Senator with her campaign workers Elisa Prusutti, Melissa Gainey, who is herself a member of the town council, Beth Rhemer, Carol Bagley, Brian Moriarty, Robert Pazant, Carl Peterson and Donald Baldwin. They are asking for money, not donating it. There is a large crowd around the aviation exhibit. The attraction could be the scale model size rockets, or the stewardesses. Handing out information and selling chances for the raffle are Cheryl Trotta, Michael Scioscio, Bruce Perlinsky, Valerie Martin, Denise Remy, Helen Marquis and Steven Blake. Selling buttons with the school motto, which we worked to develop, are Karen Leonard, Sue Cunningham, Heidi Climan, Maryanne Classen, Scott Smith, Steve Dubanoski and Bryan Sales. Everyone had better stay in line because a large number of the people in our class are involved with law enforcement. Cathy Janney has just been appointed Chief of Police. Working with her are Roger Ares, Keith Motola, Richard Hoxie, and Linda Holmberg. Also affiliated with them in the department of youth services are Sandy Hogan, Charlene Poitras, Robin Rheault and Tina Roberts. Now who said there wouldn't be any surprises? As the audience moves back into the auditorium Sandra Reynolds, Sue Nixon, and Ann Normand run into Evelyn Carr, Mike Carzello and Matt Allen. They sit together to catch up on all the news. No one talks however as the program begins. Laura Kaufman, a professional dancer, dances Swan Lake. Performing in the chorus with her are Susan Lagasse, Kathy Hayes, Elaine Dudzinski, Diane Dunn, Susan Bartholomew, Arlene Africano, Tami Arrowsmith, Denise Barnett, Candance Mitoite, Rebecca Weaver, Patricia Valukas and Lisa Plude. Sharon Keleher's specialty shop is putting on a fashion show. Lisa Dube, Kim Dahl, and Terry Polek have designed many of the specialties. Models are Bernadette Healy, Guy Dagesse, Lary Herter, Chris Skarzynski, Jody Winston, Angela Hutchins, Mary Grinuk, Pam Eastman, Robin Sweeney and Laurie Tarr. Some of them weren't very enthusiastic about modeling but everyone agrees they do an excellent job.

It is announced that the professional soccer players from the class Dave Linehan, Emile Lessard, Pete Maznicki, Ken Miller, Bucky Parsons, and Scott Zachary have donated $1,000 to the fund. Not to be outdone, members of the Enfield Senior Football League, and former players from J.F. K. Tim Mooney, Richard Downs, Norris Rabb, Roger Guilmette, Warren Shane, Scott Fieldhouse, Scott Scoglas, Richy Ivanoff and Richard Wallace contributed $1,500. Pledge records Todd Raymond, Mark Jaworowski, Denise Guimond and Dawn Caye are kept hopping trying to get names and amounts pledged. Members of a group playing hockey at a near-by rink close the pledge portion of the show by donating $1,000. They are Greg Anderson, Michael Bigmead, Rudy Beaupre, Scott Breor, Tom Crompton, Andy Chupka, Dan Dolloff, John Diorio, David Marshall, Mark Maniscalco, Rick Maciolek, Brian McLeod, David Morgan, Andy Morneault, Dale Withee and John Zbikowski. The accountants from our class who volunteered their services for tonight are busy adding up the receipts. Crystal Lessard, Lisa Pospisil, Chris Turcotte, Anne Marie Varney, John Dubchy, Kevin Dominique, Paula Bagley and Leon Bardwell had their hands full of money. While all these monetary transactions were taking place Ed Bedard, Terry Benoit, Ron Boivan, Gary Breithling, John Bozeman, Timothy O'Konis and Timothy Ruot were setting up the scenery for the grand finale. Jill Young, Debbie Lynes and Mary Webb had designed the set to go along with the theme "Bicentennial Plus" as Michele Beaulieu accompanies the skit on the guitar. Playing the patroits years after the revolution are Bonnie Lombardi, Garry Murray, Donna Sanford, Sue Telesky, Donald White, Lisa Buck, Ann Demers, Linda Levesque, Teresa Raymond, Bruce Stowell, Jim Devine, Denise Dubois, Paula Gehring, Bob Francis, Karen Heiser, Kurt Hinkel, Tim Holmes, Kevin Hart, Gil Reynolds, Lisa Stone, and Sharon Thibeault. There were no real fireworks at the end, but the audience responded thunderously to the humorous look at the Revolutionary heroes and heroines. There is a spirit among those in the audience, especially felt by those in our class. It is a nice feeling to know that our class gift to the school comes from working enjoyably together.
